

Big Momentum for Ralph Edwards Skate Park: A Local Win with Big Flow

Big things are happening at Ralph Edwards Park! Using the remaining balance of over $660,000 in grant funding through a Quality of Life grant and capital appropriation, Truth or Consequences is transforming its beloved skate park into a professionally designed space that's all about flow, youth empowerment, and smart spending. Local contractor Kris Leck—whose son is a pro skater—offered a design-build plan for just $12,000, saving the city hundreds of thousands and keeping the project on track for completion by June 2026.

Explore the City Blueprint pages to dive into the skate park plans, funding breakdowns, and the story behind this relationship success. Whether you're a skater, a parent, or a park enthusiast, there's something inspiring in how Truth or Consequences is building momentum—one ramp at a time.

Water Crew Replaces a Main Water Line - Watch it Happen

On July 31, a major waterline break flooded 9th Street near Sierra Vista Lane. Our City crew responded quickly—excavating, pumping out water, and replacing 15 feet of damaged pipe with skill and care. Thank you to our residents for your patience—and to our crew for keeping Truth or Consequences flowing. Don't dump it—do it right.

In Truth or Consequences, improperly disposing of bulky items like mattresses is more than just an eyesore—it's a violation of city ordinances and a threat to public health and safety.

We've noticed an increase in mattresses, furniture, and household garbage being left beside dumpsters and in alleyways. While it might seem like a small thing, these items quickly become more than just eyesores—they attract pests, create health hazards, and make it harder for sanitation crews to do their job safely.

City code considers this kind of dumping a public nuisance, and it's actually against the law. If items are left outside of proper disposal areas, the City may issue fines or even remove the debris at the property owner's expense.
